

After months locked inside, nature beckons

Summer flowers are in full bloom in parks throughout Jiading, making residents locked inside at home for the past two months feel relaxed and cheerful. Green lawns and forests are also welcoming housebound locals back to enjoy nature. Children can ride bicycles again, breathing fresh air and hearing birds sing. If you want to appreciate the beauty of the lotus, the Guyi Garden and the Chenjiashan Lotus Park are among the best destinations. Covering 800 square meters, the lotus pond in the Chenjiashan Lotus Park is filled with blooms in colors such as pink, red and yellow and water lilies, which are expected to bloom till October and August respectively. Chinese snowball, hydrangea and oleander flowers are also waving their “hands” welcoming residents to come and take a look in the Guyi Garden right now. Remember to wear a mask and show a 72-hour negative PCR test result report. You must also scan the venue code before entering the parks. — Photos by Si Shushu, Li Yingyan and Jiang Yichao
